STAFF

Nicole Cirillo will be entering her third season as the head coach of the Jackrabbit volleyball program. In 2016, the Jacks had an overall record of 5-23, and a 4-12 record in Summit League play. The four victories in league play were once again the most since the Jacks went 8-8 in 2012 and finished fifth. Before arriving in Brookings, she spent the previous six years as associate head coach of Summit League rival IUPUI, where she helped lead the Jaguars to three straight regular-season titles as well as the program's first ever NCAA tournament appearance in 2012. Prior to her stop in Indianapolis, she was an assistant at Missouri Southern State University where she helped lead the Lions to an unprecedented 2006 season garnering an AVCA Top 25 National ranking and qualifying for the DII NCAA championship tournament for the first time in program history.

Hailey Cowles will be entering her fourth season with the Jackrabbit volleyball program as an assistant coach. She began her coaching career in 2011 with Concordia St. Paul, helping lead the Golden Bears to their sixth and seventh NCAA Division II national titles. Prior to coaching, Hailey was a standout at the University of Minnesota. She helped the Gophers advance to the NCAA Final Four in 2009, where she earned Final Four All-Tournament Team honors.
